

The yetis grabbed their belongings, kicked dirt on the fire and legged it through the woods.

SCREAM!

woooo woooo

By the time they returned to the camp, they had convinced themselves the hooting noise had been a full blown ghost invasion, where they had been extremely lucky to have escaped with their lives!