

USE LIGHT TO CAPTURE IMAGES

'Sun Pictures' were one of the earliest forms of photography. People used special paper, soaked in chemicals, to capture images using sun light.

Did you know that you can use the sun to make pictures too, using shadows?

Try taking some paper outside (with something to lean on), a pencil and some small toys. Place your toy on top of your paper and draw around it's shadow.

